The commission form of government, which was expected to be one of the big features of the meeting of the Commercial club last night, rather failed of discussion.

The committee on commission form is composed of Frank McMillen, Isaac Barth, E. A. Mann, Hugh J. Collins and F. B. Schwentker. It is expected to report at the next meeting of the city council.

The committee appointed to take charge of the plan proposed by Mr. McMillen was as follows: A. B. McMillen, A. B. Stroup and W. H. Giffenwater.

The committee on legislation in which was appointed as follows: Amado Chaves, O. S. Marron, E. A. Mann, D. A. Macpherson and Felix H. Lester.

This is the simplest form of commission plan of government, he said. "It places power in the commission to appoint and remove all subordinate officers. It divides all the business of the city into three branches, one commissioner presiding over each, and one acting as mayor. The entire power of the city is vested in the commissioners, and a majority of them are made necessary in the transaction of business."

Judge Mann stated that the plans of the committee followed very closely what is known as the Galveston plan of government, with the single exception of there being three commissioners instead of five.

We deemed it advisable, however, to make it necessary for an elector to be held before any bonds could be voted on any franchise granted. We have not completed the bill as we have sent for several charters and laws from other cities which we wish to examine before completing our own work."

Judge Mann concluded by saying that the committee was anxious for any suggestions which the club might wish to make.

Dr. W. G. Hope expressed his belief in the efficacy of such a plan, and President Stern said he believed the old law providing for a commission form should be repealed, as it was impractical and inadequate. He suggested $1,000 as the proper payment for the services of each of the three commissioners.

Judge Mann then said that both he and Mr. Barth, the other member of the sub-committee, agreed that any bill which was drafted would have to be general in its terms, as the constitution did not provide for the granting of special charters to cities.

President Stern then called on A. B. McMillen for an expression of opinion. Mr. McMillen said that he had already expressed his somewhat definite and fixed ideas about commission government before the club, and that he thought that greater discussion was not advisable until the committee had reported to the council. He continued: "A thousand dollars is not enough to pay a man for running the city. I believe the commissioners ought to be chosen more as a board of directors, with power to hire a man to run the city. You could not get the right man for a thousand, and, if you could, you would spend it by having three of him. I do not say this as discussion should come after the report is made."
